

Limbo

Who would have known that,
When the world switched into limbo.
My life would be cast into shadow,
Consumed by worry and fear.

I watch as it slowly engulfs the planet,
Eliminating its enemies as it goes.
The world is in silence as still as the night,
Every family holding each other tight.

Schools are now all closed,
And my friends feel far away.
On the other side of the screen,
But a distant world apart.

Although we now feel distant,
This has all brought us closer,
In ways the eye can't see.
and we'll never take for granted,
our friends and family.

I may feel stranded and lonely,
like a solitary house on a tall hill.
But I will stay inside forever,
To stop others from getting ill.

The world may be turned off right now,
But I'm certain someone will turn it back on.
